HARBOR FREIGHT TOOLS INTRODUCES NEW BLUETOOTH® CODE READER TO ITS POPULAR ZURICH® LINE

(November 30, 2022; Calabasas CA) Harbor Freight Tools is expanding its popular ZURICH® line with the ZRBT1 ODB2 Bluetooth Dongle Code Reader which turns a smartphone or tablet into a diagnostic code reader.

The reader plugs into a vehicle's OBD (on board diagnostic) connector, and is compatible with an iPhone®, iPad® or Android™ device. Users can download the free app from the Apple App Store® or Google Play™. No subscription is required.

The ZRBT1 ODB2 Bluetooth Dongle Code Reader and app can diagnose a vehicle's check engine light, perform battery registrations, and provide technical service recall bulletins and campaigns.

It also provides other information, usually only accessible to professional mechanics via an expensive scan tool, including an engine oil light service/reset, all systems code scan, and a smog check status for emissions.

The reader can display live data, including vital component tests of the charging system. It can also display an extensive list of needed auto services categorized by mileage.

Once repairs have been completed, the user can clear codes and reset warning lights.

The ZURICH ZRBT1 ODB2 Bluetooth Dongle Code Reader can be used on car models manufactured in and after 1996.

Currently priced at $59.99, the ZURICH ZRBT1 ODB2 Bluetooth Dongle Code Reader offers exceptional value, at half the price of the competition.
